

STEVE TAYLOR

WESTERN WATERCOLORIST

As a child growing up in Rockford, Illinois in the 40s, Steve's parents recognized and encouraged his artistic and musical talents. His love of the West and the "cowboy way" started when, at the age of 10, his family moved to Arizona for a year.

After completing school, he returned to Arizona where he later became a commercial artist in Phoenix. He moved to the White Mountains in 1982. He is a founding board member and past president of the Arts Alliance of the White Mountain and cofounder of the White Mountains Roundup of Cowboy Poetry, Music and Art.

In addition to his talent as a western watercolorist, Steve is an accomplished singer, poet, songwriter and actor. He enjoys demonstrating his many talents and may be reached at his home and private studio.
